The Cherwell Singers was founded in 1979 by a small group of enthusiastic singers of whom several are still in the choir. They sing a wide range of choral music and perform regularly in the Oxford area.

Besides public concerts, the choir is happy to sing for charities or invited audiences. All enquiries to:
Glynne Butt. Tel. Abingdon 21929.

David Andrew read music at St. Peter's College, Oxford before going on to the Royal College of Music. There, he studied conducting with Norman del Mar and was awarded the Adrian Boulton prize.

He now teaches at the Dragon School and has been director of the Cherwell Singers for almost two years.

Christopher Fletcher-Campbell gained an ARCM. diploma for organ at the age of seventeen and added diplomas in piano and violin before going up to Magdalen College to read Greats. He taught classics for a number of years and is now Assistant Director of Music at Bloxham School.

Vacancies The Cherwell Singers will have two vacancies for tenors in September. Vacancies in other voices occur from time to time. Please see any choir member if you would like to join us.

Future concert You can hear the Cherwell Singers again at the church of SS. Mary & John, Cowley Road. 8pm. Sunday 3rd July. Folk songs, spirituals, barbershop.
